

Bentham Crouwel

P60, Amstelveen

This pop music venue forms part of the Culture Strip, a new 250-metre-long building, which it shares with a school of music, a bank and an adult education centre. An existing theatre auditorium on site has also been integrated into the new building and enlarged. P60 occupies the right-hand extremity of the Strip where it rubs shoulders with a new multi-storey car park. The entrance on the ground floor leads directly to the bar. On the first floor is the P60 Suite, a lounge-type space looking out over the new plaza (Stadsplein), as well as changing rooms, offices and cloakroom. The pop venue itself is one floor higher.

Client

Ontwikkelingsmaatschappij Stadshart Amstelveen

Architect

Bentham Crouwel Architecten

Gross floor area

1000 m²

Start design

1993

Start construction

1999

Completion

2001